To whom it may concern

In common with many small companies, Powerstax utilises 3rd party marketing services as a cost effective way to promote our business and keep our presence in the marketplace.

npf Marketing Services have provided us with a blend of services including but not limited to datasheet compilation from basic technical information, website updates, news and PR dissemination via targeted marketing campaigns and comprehensive industry specific advice to maximise our impact.

Personally, I have worked with Nigel Frey since 1985 as a colleague, font of technical and industry knowledge and as a supplier of excellent marketing services and would not hesitate to recommend him to any enquirer.

I am happy to be contacted for any specific points of reference at tim.worley@powerstax.com.
